What areas of your academic and professional careers have you so far made improvements in? What methods or principles have you used to accomplish this?

As part of my undergraduate curriculum, I had to work on an important project. I was given the responsibility of leading the group that was working on that particular project. During the course of working on the project, there were a few disagreements that emerged among the members of the group as a result of a few unfortunate occurrences. Because of these disagreements, the level of individual contributions from the team had severely decreased, and nobody's attention or emphasis was on concentrating on the successful completion of the project. After giving it a lot of thought, I decided to go with my gut and accept the responsibility of being the team leader. As a result, I took a more active part in the project than I normally would have. I went around to each individual member of my team and spent some time with each of them in order to provide them with a third party who could remain impartial while listening to their sides of the argument and gaining an understanding of the issue from their point of view. After receiving information from all of them, I was finally able to fit all of the puzzle pieces together and realise that the issue was not quite as difficult as they had made it out to be. As a result, I was able to clear up the misunderstandings that were leading to these challenges, which allowed me to solve these problems without any negative fallout. As soon as I was able to get the team back together, we were able to finish the project effectively, and there were no holdups in the submissions we made.
