Furthermore the traditional constraints of small and medium enterprises such as geographic operations are now being dissolved by technological developments. This means that there are new opportunities for SMEs and their fundamental principles are being redefined. The aims, competencies, strategy, management, practice and scope of these businesses are changing with wide ranging implications. This is the second part of a two volume work that incorporates scientific chapters on SME business theory and practice. Authors provide a balanced perspective of the present and future of SMEs across all business disciplines for example management, strategy, marketing, economics and finance. While Volume I focuses on the individual SME and internal issues such as innovation, quality and digitization, this second volume explores external issues such as contextual forces, the effects of the financial crisis and macro economic effects.

Transformational leadership can facilitate the use of such evidence to improve programs and services that positively influence student learning. This form of leadership can be initiated top down by presidents, chief academic officers, deans and department chairs and or bottom up by students, faculty, staff and other stakeholders. This briefing explores the leadership styles and insights about assessment of top administrators from eleven colleges and universities nationwide that have established reputations for good practice in outcomes assessment. In interviews with these leaders we examine their perspectives on the following aspects of assessment: the vision, barriers, risks, methods of stakeholder engagement and support, collection and application of data and sustainability of the process. Emergent themes in leading institutional change through assessment include the need for collaboration among administrators, faculty and student affairs professionals, adequate training, recognition and rewards for faculty and staff, and incorporation of assessment data into strategic plans, annual reports, budget hearings and program reviews.
