Data: Met with MO in 2 hour group session. Used the large conference room in IA side of building to provide a controlled environment. Reviewed social behavior goals and MO was easily distracted having extreme difficulty completing task of stating current goals and self evaluation on achieving goals.

MO left room and I shadowed her into the hallway. MO engaged in 1:1 conversation with me about an art project. I was able to redirect MO back to room using art as an incentive. Once we returned to the room MO was able to draw on the craft paper and participate in the goal sharing portion of group. Frequent redirection was required using verbal cues to bring about proper participation in Group topic discussion.

Assessment: MO had extreme difficulty initially adjusting and settling into the daily routine. Using the arts focus was brought about to a participation level for a consistent 10 minute time frame. When MO showed signs of another big distraction redirection to writing topics on the white board helped to keep her focused and participating for an additional 15 minutes. This was consistent with the ADHD (moderate) and Bi-polar diagnosis.

Plan: Continue to work on focus and attention. Continue to use art while seated to have an outlet for her energy. Continue to use verbal prompts to redirect as well as use drawing materials while seated as an outlet for her energy. Work to achieve 10 to 15 minute time frames of consistent focus and participation of task at hand 3 times per group session 5 times per week.

The Ethical and Professional Practice of Counseling and

Psychotherapy Len Sperry,2007 In addition to providing foundational information about ethical codes and legal statuses this new text advocates for counseling personnel to view ethical issues as challenges for personal and professional growth

Written in an accessible concise and easy to read style this book endeavors to broaden the traditional focus of ethical study to include topics that students and practicing clinicians will find consistent with their own personal strivings and professional needs. While covering the traditional core concepts of professional ethics in considerable detail, confidentiality, informed consent, boundaries and the use of power and competency and professional responsibility, it also advocates for counseling personnel to view ethical issues as challenges for personal and professional growth. And it includes a number of critical topics that counselors and therapists face or will face in daily practice. These include organizational ethics, virtue ethics and an expanded view of multicultural ethics with a focus on community values as well as on religious and spiritual issues. This new book includes a special chapter in the appendix that emphasizes ways in which counselors and therapists can grow and achieve excellence in their personal and professional lives. Unique and essential coverage of organizational ethics (OE) is addressed, making readers aware of how organizational dynamics can exert such powerful influence on ethical decision making (Ch 4, 10, 14). Unique coverage of the ethical considerations involving spiritual and religious issues as well as the use of alternative interventions in counseling and psychotherapy are covered, including the common lawsuits brought against counselors and therapists using spiritual and alternative interventions (Ch 3). A unique section in the appendix describes the psychological and philosophical basis of ethical decision making for readers who want and need a more in depth discussion.

Counseling, Psychology, and Children William G. Wagner, 2003. Bananas and plantains are major fruit crops in the tropics and subtropics, making a vital contribution to the economies of many countries. In the last 15 years substantial changes have occurred in banana production among them the increased importance of fungal and viral diseases and their serious impact on Cavendish export cultivars, smallholder plantains and cooking bananas. Changes in production systems such as protected greenhouse cultivation, organic, fair trade and integrated cultivation and their respective certification schemes have also become prominent. This book provides an accessible review of the scientific principles of banana production and how these relate to field practices. This new edition has expanded coverage of world trade statistics and policies, breeding of new cultivars in relation to disease resistance and markets, prospects for genetically modified bananas and the increasing role of endophytes in controlling pests and diseases.
