

December SAT Essay Prompts

If you took the December 2006 SAT Reasoning Test, you had one of the essay prompts below:

Prompt 1

Think Carefully about the issue presented in the following excerpt and the assignment below.

In order to be the most productive and successful people that we are Capable of being, we must be willing to ignore the opinions of others. It is only when we are completely indifferent to others' opinions of us—when we are not concerned about how others think of us—that we can achieve our most important goals.

Assignment:

Are people more likely to be productive and successful when they ignore the opinions of others? Plan and write an essay in which you develop your point of view on this issue. Support your position with reasoning and examples taken from your reading, studies, experience, or observations.

Prompt 2

Think Carefully about the issue presented in the following excerpt and the assignment below.

In many circumstances, optimism—the expectation that one's ideas and plans will always turn out for the best—is unwarranted. In these situations what is needed is not an upbeat view but a realistic one. There are times when people need to take a tough-minded view of the possibilities of success, give up, and invest their energies elsewhere rather than find reasons to continue to pursue the original project or idea.

Adapted from Martin E. P. Seligman, Learned Optimism

Assignment:

Is it better for people to be realistic or optimistic? Plan and write an essay in which you develop your point of view on this issue. Support your position with reasoning and examples taken from your reading, studies, experience, or observations.

Roman error comes to signify both ancient misstep and something that we may commit when engaging with Roman antiquity whereby reception may even be conceived as error of a kind while the volume ably addresses popular fascination with a wide range of Roman vices including violence imperial domination and decadence it also asks us to consider what makes certain receptions matter how they matter and why
