Prompt:

Describe the person who inspires you the most.

When I was in my second year in high school, there was a senior student whom I have particularly taken some interest with. Appearance wise, I consider her a normal student. She is not part of the cheerleading team, but she was part of the school's Red Cross club. I never see her laughing loudly with other girls in her class. Rather, I don't know why but I always end up seeing her helping another person.

One day, I saw her helping an old woman cross the street in her neighborhood. I thought that only happened in story books and movies, but there I saw her doing that. At one time, I saw her walking in an alley near our school, and the student, a freshman, walking in front of her threw her rubbish on the road, she stopped to collect the garbage and ran after the student. She seemed to have explained the matter very calmly, and I saw the student scratching his head calmly, taking the garbage, went into the garbage can, throwing it nicely.

I have always admired her because of that. She became very influential to me without her knowing it that I often find myself imitating the things that she is doing. I also believe in helping others, and I want to do well. She does so effortlessly and with courage. I am not afraid of doing that too. However, I believe that I still need practice in order to cultivate that trait naturally in me. I do not have plans in telling that senior student that I have been observing and imitating her. But I do hope that by me imitating her, other people would also be inspired to do good to other people.

Phenomenalism, Phenomenology, and the Question of Time Adam Berg, 2015-12-15 Phenomenalism Phenomenology and the Question of Time A Comparative Study of the Theories of Mach Husserl and Boltzmann analyzes two interconnected themes the split between phenomenalism and phenomenology and the question of time in relation to physical processes and irreversibility in physics The first theme is the overlooked connections between the modern phenomenology of Edmund Husserl and his mentor Franz Brentano and phenomenalism as associated with Ernst Mach The book's historical conceptual perspective draws attention to the ways in which Husserl's twentieth century advance of phenomenological method was conceived in relation to Mach's late nineteenth century and early twentieth century work both in science and philosophy At first glance Mach's phenomenalism appears to be in stark contrast to Husserl's phenomenology but on closer inspection it influenced and informed its inception By analyzing Husserl's revolutionary method of phenomenology in connection to Mach's earlier conceptions the book elucidates the rise of modern physics especially through the work of Ludwig Boltzmann as an important context to both Mach's philosophical work and Husserl's early overtures into phenomenology and his later critique of the crisis of European sciences The discursive affinities and differences between phenomenalism and phenomenology are examined in terms of a more contemporary debate over naturalizing phenomenology either as a method continuous with science or reduced to it This immanent tension is examined and evaluated specifically through the second thematic axis of the book which deals with the question of time and irreversibility Time in physics conforms to an explanatory scheme that relegates the issues of directionality and symmetry of time to concepts that are radically different from any phenomenological attempts to explain temporality in terms of intuition and consciousness It is precisely through the notion of irreversibility that both perspectives scientific and phenomenological explicate time's arrow not as a mere manifestation of sensory asymmetry as Mach would have it but rather through indirect descriptions of time and temporal objects The issue of time s arrow irreversibility and Boltzmann s physical hypotheses regarding the nature of time are introduced and comparatively assessed with Husserl s work on phenomenology and the role of temporality to consciousness Information Politics Tim Jordan,2015-02-20 Conflict over information has become a central part of modern politics and culture The sites of struggle are numerous the actors beyond count Currents of liberation and exploitation course through the debates about Edward Snowden and surveillance Anonymous search engines and social media In Information Politics Tim Jordan identifies all these issues in relation to a general understanding of the nature of an information politics that emerged with the rise of mass digital cultures and the internet He locates it within a field of power and rebellion that is populated by many interwoven social and political conflicts including gender class and ecology The exploitations both facilitated by and contested through increases in information flows the embedding of information technologies in daily life and the intersection of network and control protocols are all examined Anyone hoping to get to grips with the rapidly changing terrain of digital culture and conflict should start here Heidegger and the Contradiction of Being Filippo Casati,2021-11-29

This book offers a clear analytic and innovative interpretation of Heidegger s late work This period of Heidegger s philosophy remains largely unexplored by analytic philosophers who consider it filled with inconsistencies and paradoxical ideas particularly concerning the notions of Being and nothingness This book takes seriously the claim that the late Heidegger endorses dialetheism namely the position according to which some contradictions are true and shows that the idea that Being is both an entity and not an entity is neither incoherent nor logically trivial The author achieves this by presenting and defending the idea that reality has an inconsistent structure In doing so he takes one of the most discussed topics in current analytic metaphysics grounding theory into a completely unexplored area Additionally in order to make sense of Heidegger s concept of nothingness the author introduces an original axiomatic mereological system that having a paraconsistent logic as a base logic can tolerate inconsistencies without falling into logical triviality This is the first book to set forth a complete and detailed discussion of the late Heidegger in the framework of analytic metaphysics It will be of interest to Heidegger scholars and analytic philosophers working on theories of grounding mereology dialetheism and paraconsistent logic Talking Book Topics ,2015-11 Moral Puzzles and Legal Perplexities

Heidi M. Hurd,2018-11-22 Drawing inspiration from the profoundly influential work of legal theorist Larry Alexander this volume tackles central questions in criminal law constitutional law jurisprudence and moral philosophy What are the legitimate conditions of blame and punishment What values are at the heart of constitutional protections against discrimination or infringements of free speech Must judges interpret statutes and constitutional provisions in ways that comport with the intentions of those who wrote them Can the law obligate us to violate the demands of morality and when can the law allow the rights of the few to be violated for the good of the many This collection of essays by world renowned legal theorists is for anyone interested in foundational questions about the law s authority the conditions of its fair application to citizens and the moral justifications of the rights duties and permissions that it protects The Drama ,1920

The Writers Directory ,2013 Urban Horror Erin Y. Huang,2020-02-28 In Urban Horror Erin Y Huang theorizes the economic cultural and political conditions of neoliberal post socialist China Drawing on Marxist phenomenology geography and aesthetics from Engels and Merleau Ponty to Lefebvre and Ranci re Huang traces the emergence and mediation of what she calls urban horror a sociopolitical public affect that exceeds comprehension and provides the grounds for possible future revolutionary dissent She shows how documentaries blockbuster feature films and video art from China Hong Kong and Taiwan made between the 1990s and the present rehearse and communicate urban horror In these films urban horror circulates through myriad urban spaces characterized by the creation of speculative crises shifting temporalities and dystopic environments inhospitable to the human body The cinematic image and the aesthetics of urban horror in neoliberal post socialist China lay the groundwork for the future to such an extent Huang contends that the seeds of dissent at the heart of urban horror make it possible to imagine new forms of resistance Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,1991
