Shipbuilding and Ship Repair Workers around the World Raquel Varela, Hugh Murphy, Marcel Linden, 2025-10-01

Maritime trade is the backbone of the world's economy. Around ninety percent of all goods are transported by ship and since World War II shipbuilding has undergone major changes in response to new commercial pressures and opportunities. Early British dominance for example was later undermined in the 1950s by competition from the Japanese who have since been overtaken by South Korea and most recently China. The case studies in this volume trace these and other important developments in the shipbuilding and ship repair industries as well as workers' responses to these historic transformations.

Development Alexandros I. Stefanakis, Ioannis E. Nikolaou, 2024-10-22 This book will highlight the role of CE in the sustainability field as it is expressed in the various fields and disciplines and its contribution to building a sustainable society by providing a better understanding of the relevant social and cultural structures and the need for cross disciplinary knowledge and diverse skills. Such an integrated approach which combines the concept of sustainability in the engineering field to create a CE has not yet been presented in detail in the published literature and there are only scattered studies covering only small parts of this holistic approach. Hence this book will represent a single reference that will provide summarized information and state of the art knowledge on this topic of the future. The book will include chapters showcasing investigating the relation between circular economy principles and their realization in different engineering fields. This includes theoretical justification, research studies and full scale case studies. The approach focuses on two distinct levels: macro and micro on both production and consumption sides.      Shipcare & Maritime Management, 1980      Middle East Economic Digest, 1983-03-04      Business World, 2004      European Intermodal Yearbook, 1998      Arab shipping, 1989

Changes which took decades even centuries elsewhere are happening in a few years. The growth of larger firms and the arrival of international retailers are changing the business landscape bringing the consistent supply and presentation of wider ranges of goods to consumers and leading to the development of new kinds of retail stores and modern shopping malls often in new locations. All of these developments are important for economic growth and for consumers and their lifestyles. They raise questions for governments about foreign investment about social and environmental change and about the fate of traditional retailers. This book examines the trends seeking to understand how far they are global and how local circumstances affect developments.

International retailers have spread across the region but not always successfully Studies in several countries look at their processes of growth and some of the reasons for success and failure A review of changing regulation across the region suggests regulators should be concerned to avoid the problems of overconcentration of retail power and country studies reflect on the effects of regulation as well as cultural and other influences on change This book was published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Business Review     Plant & Control Engineering ,2001     Fairplay ,2004     Lloyd's Maritime Directory ,1996     Marine Engineering/log ,1986
