OECD Investment Policy Reviews Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development,2017 This review which was prepared in response to Kazakhstan's 2012 request to adhere to the Declaration on International Investment and Multinational Enterprises OECD Declaration analyses the general framework for investment as well as most recent reforms and shows where further efforts are necessary. It assesses Kazakhstan's ability to comply with the principles of openness, transparency and non discrimination and its policy convergence with the OECD Declaration including responsible business conduct practices. Capitalising on the OECD Policy Framework for Investment, this review studies other policy areas that are of key relevance to investment such as SME policy, infrastructure development, trade policy as well as anti corruption efforts. Since the first review of Kazakhstan in 2012, the authorities have made strides in opening the country to international investment and in improving the policy framework for investment as part of their efforts to diversify the economy to avoid continued overreliance on oil. Additional policy measures are nevertheless required to create a stimulating environment for investment if the government wants to fulfil its goal of economic diversification and sustainable development.

Multinational Enterprises and the Law Peter Muchlinski, 2021-02-18. Multinational Enterprises and the Law is the only comprehensive contemporary and interdisciplinary account of the techniques used to regulate multinational enterprises (MNEs) at the national, regional and multilateral levels. In addition, it considers the effects of corporate self regulation and the impact of civil society and community groups upon the development of the legal order in this area. The book has been thoroughly revised and updated for this third edition, making it a definitive reference work for students, researchers and practitioners of international economic law, business, corporate and commercial law, development studies and international politics. Split into four parts, the book first deals with the conceptual basis for MNE regulation. It explains the growth of MNEs, their business and legal forms and the relationship between them and the effects of a globalized economy and society now increasingly challenged by recently revived nationalist economic policies upon the evolution of regulatory agendas in the field. In addition, the limits of national and regional jurisdiction over MNE activities are considered a question that arises throughout the specialized areas of regulation covered in the remainder of the book. Part II covers the main areas of economic regulation, including controls over and the liberalization of entry and establishment, tax, company and competition law and the impact of intellectual property rights on technology diffusion and transfer. A specialized chapter on the regulation of multinational banks in the wake of the global financial crisis is new to this edition. Part III introduces the social dimension of MNE regulation, covering labour rights, human rights and environmental issues. Finally, Part IV deals with the contribution of international investment law to MNE regulation and to the control of investment risks, covering the main provisions found in international investment agreements, their interpretation by international tribunals, the process of investor state arbitration and how concerns over these developments are leading to reform proposals.

Science, Policy and Development in Africa R. Sooryamoorthy, 2020-09-03. Since gaining political independence in the 1950s, science has rapidly become a prerequisite for national development within many African nations. Supported by international agencies such as UNESCO, initiatives were taken to direct Africa on the road of scientific development, enabling contributions to world science and significant progress in many specific research areas. However, from a developmental perspective, there remains the question of how science influences national development plans and strategies How far are science policies integrated into the national development plans What potential and challenges do science and technology pose for Africa and its prospects for wider development Offering a comprehensive historical and empirical study of science in both colonial and post colonial Africa R Sooryamoorthy brings to light the connections between science policy and development in African nations Focusing on understanding the widening gap in science and technology between developed and developing regions and the integration or lack of with national development strategies this study provides important insights into the potential opportunities and challenges facing Africa in the areas of science
