Constructive Feedback Rubric

"Feedback needs to provide information specifically relating to the task or process of learning that fills a gap between what is understood and what is aimed to be understood." (Hattie, and Timperley 81-112)

Feedback is valuable and useful when...

Who	Someone provides it with the appropriate audience in mind. Who is going to receive this information: a peer, an instructor, the program director?
When	It is given as soon as possible after performance and it allows for response and interaction. Will the feedback still be relevant to the audience?
Why	There is purpose awareness. What is my audience going to do with this information: make changes in the draft, adjust teaching strategies, add a class to the program?
What	It is focused and provides specific information with clear evidence of appropriate content. What are the goals? What progress is being made towards that goal? What activities need to be undertaken to make better progress?
How	It is perceived as well-intentioned, respectful (devoid of inflammatory language) and knowledgeable. Is what I am saying specific and useful to the audience? Am I addressing the content in a focused, constructive, and respectful manner?
