Curtis, 2010-07-17 Postapocalyptic Fiction and the Social Contract We'll Not Go Home Again provides a framework for our fascination with the apocalyptic events The popular appeal of the end of the world genre is clear in movies novels and television shows Even our political debates over global warming nuclear threats and pandemic disease reflect a concern about the possibility of such events This popular fascination is really a fascination with survival how can we come out alive And what would we do next The end of the world is not about species death but about beginning again This book uses postapocalyptic fiction as a terrain for thinking about the state of nature the hypothetical fiction that is the driving force behind the social contract The first half of the book examines novels that tell the story of the move from the state of nature to civil society through a Hobbesian a Lockean or a Rousseauian lens including Lucifer's Hammer by Larry Niven and Jerry Pournelle Alas Babylon by Pat Frank Malevil by Robert Merle and Into the Forest by Jean Hegland The latter half of the book examines Octavia Butler's postapocalyptic Parable series in which a new kind of social contract emerges one built on the fact of human dependence and vulnerability Apocalypse Weird C.D. The Long Road G. Michael Hopf, 2013-08-29 The End was just the beginning of the struggle to survive The turmoil that Gordon and his family dealt with in the first 6 weeks will seem trivial as they now are outside the gates of Rancho Valentino The journey to Idaho will show them and their small group how far civilization has deteriorated in a very short time The family's sanity will be bitterly tested as challenges along the way will shake them to their core Sebastian now free has been deposited in a San Diego unrecognizable to him The savagery of a people fighting for limited resources comes into stark relief as he navigates the deadly roads in search of his brother Along the way he will discover that some still hold the torch of civility and hope for a better tomorrow With the presumed death of President

Connor Vice President Cruz must lead the fledgling federal government out of the bunker of Cheyenne Mountain and towards a new purpose of revitalizing the United States but this will come with great cost and difficulty as tough choices will have to be made Col Barone s grief at the loss of his son has changed him No longer does he feel constrained by the old code of conduct he once pledged himself to He now leads a powerful force of over 4 000 well armed Marines to settle not just a new country but also a score against those he thinks have wronged him One thing that is certain The Long Road will take its toll on all of them
