failure time and time again Mastering Fear Rikke Schubart, 2018-07-12 Mastering Fear analyzes horror as play and examines what functions horror has and why it is adaptive and beneficial for audiences. It takes a biocultural approach and focusing on emotions, gender, and play, it argues we play with fiction horror. In horror we engage not only with the negative emotions of fear and disgust but with a wide range of emotions both positive and negative. The book lays out a new theory of horror and analyzes female protagonists in contemporary horror from child to teen, adult, middle age, and old age. Since the turn of the millennium, we have seen a new generation of female protagonists in horror. There are feisty teens in The Vampire Diaries (2009), troubled mothers in The Babadook (2014), and struggling women in the New French extremity with Martyrs (2008) and Inside (2007). At the fuzzy edges of the genre are dramas like Pan's Labyrinth (2006) and Black Swan (2010), and middle age women are now protagonists with Carol in The Walking Dead (2010) and Jessica Lange's characters in American Horror Story (2011). Horror is not just for men but also for women and not just for the young but for audiences of all ages. The Science of Time Travel Elizabeth Howell, 2020-06-02 Travel back in time with Doctor Who, the Terminator, the X-Men, and all your favorite time travelers. Science fiction is the perfect window into the possibilities and perils of time travel. What would happen if you went back in time and killed your own grandparent? If you knew how to stop a presidential assassination, would time travel allow you to make your wish come true? Can we use time travel as a tool to escape the destiny of our future or mistakes of the past? The Science of Time Travel explores time travel through your favorite science fiction franchises from the classic time travel paradoxes of Star Trek to the universe-crossing shenanigans of Doctor Who. Discover the real science behind questions such as: Can time travel really erase our past regrets like in A Christmas Carol? Is it worth killing people in the past to prevent a horrible future like in Terminator? What can we learn from living the same day over and over again like in Groundhog Day? Could time travel destroy our right to privacy like in Deja Vu? And so much more. It's time to fire up the DeLorean to 88 mph, jump into the TARDIS, hiding in plain sight, or warp space with the USS Enterprise to explore what time travel means for us. Paradox Effect Gabriel F.W. Koch, 2015-09-28 Maternal instinct knows no boundaries, including the nano neural net intravenously installed in Dannia Weston's mind to repress her identity, allowing her to perform a mission 300 years before her time. Transported to the year 1954, Dannia becomes a woman with a mid-twentieth-century persona: college-educated with an aptitude for mechanical invention. Due to her work during the war, she is employed by the U.S. government on a secret project. But what no one knows, including Dannia or those who sent her back to tinker with the mechanical past to reduce future pollution, is what might happen should she become emotionally involved in 1954. The 2254 science team programmed the nano net to prevent the possibility of pregnancy, but each person reacts to strong emotional stimuli differently, and using birth control not available in 1954 is out of the question. When Dannia falls in love with Peter Hersh and becomes pregnant, her hormones erode a small section of the nano-chained network that stabilizes her new identity, triggering a mild memory rebirth and threatening her mission and the fate of the world. Time Out of Time Jack
