Probing auditory scene analysis Elyse S Sussman, Susan

Denham, Susann Deike, 2015-02-11 In natural environments the auditory system is typically confronted with a mixture of sounds originating from different sound sources As sounds spread over time the auditory system has to continuously decompose competing sounds into distinct meaningful auditory objects or auditory streams referring to certain sound sources This decomposition work which was termed by Albert Bregman as Auditory scene analysis ASA involves two kinds of grouping to be done Grouping based on simultaneous cues such as harmonicity and on sequential cues such as similarity in acoustic features over time Understanding how the brain solves these tasks is a fundamental challenge facing auditory scientist In recent years the topic of ASA was broadly investigated in different fields of auditory research including a wide range of methods studies in different species and modeling Despite the advance in understanding ASA it still proves to be a major challenge for auditory research This includes verifying whether experimental findings are transferable to more realistic auditory scenes A central approach in understanding ASA is the use of certain stimulus parameters that produce an ambiguous percept The advantage of such an approach is that different perceptual organizations can be studied without varying physical stimulus parameters Additionally the perception of ambiguous stimuli can be volitionally controlled by intention or task By using this one can mirror real hearing situations where listeners intent to identify and to localize auditory sources Recently it was also found that in classical auditory streaming sequences perceptual ambiguity was not restricted to but was observed over a broad range of stimulus parameters The proposed Research Topic pursues to bring together scientist in the different fields of auditory research whose work addresses the issue of perceptual ambiguity Researchers were welcome to contribute experimental reports computational modeling and reviews that consider auditory ambiguity in its modality specific characteristics as well as in comparison to visual ambiguous figures The overall goal of contributions was to consider the experimental findings from the perspective of real auditory scenes In a broader sense the Research Topic was open for contributions which are related to the issue of active listening in complex scenes An

Buckle Down North Carolina EOG Buckle Down Publishing, 2007 A Brief Look at David Holdzkom, Brian Sumner, Brad McMillen, 2010 In the context of standardized testing the standard error of measurement SEM is a measure of the factors other than the student's actual knowledge of the tested material that may affect the student's test score Such factors may include distractions in the testing environment fatigue hunger or even luck This means that a student's observed score may be below or above their true level of knowledge On North Carolina's End of Grade EOG and End of Course EOC tests the SEM is usually estimated at 3 4 scale points Thus the SEM is often factored into decisions on promotion retention and graduation students scoring within one SEM of Level III proficient are often advanced to the next level However the SEM is not factored into school accountability metrics and students scoring below Level III on an EOG or EOC test are not counted as proficient in the school's publicly reported testing results
