PARENTING STYLE P. Sooriya, 2017-12-30 Parenting is a complex activity that includes many specific behaviors that work individually and together to influence child outcomes Parenting in general terms is what defines how our children behave in different situations respond and react to different scenarios and ultimately the kind of adults that they grow into Most parenting revolves around trying to exert some level of control over our children to make our lives as easy as possible and also to create a harmonious family environment Parenting is not a single activity but the total of approaches and behavioral patterns used to care and groom children

Intercultural Parenting Koong Hean Foo, 2019-05-02 How do parenting styles differ globally How do different international parenting practices impact on children's development Can we bring together and hybridise different international parenting styles Intercultural Parenting explores the relationship between family culture and parenting by reviewing established and evolving Western and Eastern parenting styles and their impact on children's development Authoritarian authoritative permissive and neglecting approaches as well as newer techniques such as helicopter parenting are compared with filial tiger and training approaches and mixed parenting styles Practical application sections show how cultural understanding can help demonstrate how professionals might use the information and ideas in their clinical work whilst parental questionnaires encourage self assessment and reflection Dr Foo Koong Hean brings together the traditional and evolving approaches to the art of parenting practices and also showcases relatively neglected research on Eastern parenting practices This book is important reading for childcare professionals such as health visitors early years teachers and those in mental health as well as students in family studies and developmental psychology

Parenting Across Cultures Helaine Selin, 2013-11-19 There is a strong connection between culture and parenting What is acceptable in one culture is frowned upon in another This applies to behavior after birth encouragement in early childhood and regulation and freedom during adolescence There are differences in affection and distance harshness and repression and acceptance and criticism Some parents insist on obedience others are concerned with individual development This clearly differs from parent to parent but there is just as clearly a connection to culture This book includes chapters on China Colombia Jordan Kenya the Philippines Thailand Korea Vietnam Brazil Native Americans and Australians Argentina Chile Mexico Ecuador Cuba Pakistan Nigeria Morocco and several other countries Beside this the authors address depression academic achievement behavior adolescent identity abusive parenting grandparents as parents fatherhood parental agreement and disagreement emotional availability and stepparents

Parenting Styles and Their Effect on Child Development Outcomes Allison L. Feller, 2014 A parent's interactions with his/her child have shown to have a significant impact on a variety of child and adolescent outcomes in the areas of cognitive development and education externalizing behaviors internalizing behaviors and personality development Teaching parents how to negotiate power shifts during the two challenging developmental periods of preschool and adolescence may have especially significant long term effects This paper provides a comprehensive literary review examining the Authoritative Authoritarian Permissive Indulgent and Permissive Neglectful parenting styles A thorough review of peer reviewed articles addressing topics of parenting styles and their effect on child developmental outcomes resulted in 23 studies from 1966 to 2012 Future research is needed to examine parent child relationships in the context of the ecological viewpoint and to consider other variables of the school setting the child s age gender differing parenting styles community environment child and parent personality and how they are related to parenting style choices and overall child development outcomes This information can aide counselors clinicians and educators who work directly with parents and families of young children and adolescents so they are better able to teach about developmentally appropriate parenting practices that will support positive outcomes in young children

Authoritative Parenting Robert E. Larzelere,Amanda Sheffield Morris,Amanda W. Harrist,2013 Psychologist Diana Baumrind s revolutionary prototype of parenting called authoritative parenting combines the best of various parenting styles In contrast to previous emphases on parental responsiveness alone permissive parenting or on demandingness alone authoritarian parenting authoritative parenting combines high levels of both responsiveness and demandingness The result is an appropriate mix of warm nurturance and firm discipline In this book leading scholars update our thinking about authoritative parenting and address three unresolved issues mechanisms of the style s effectiveness variations of effectiveness across cultures and untangling how parents influence children from how children influence them By integrating perspectives from developmental and clinical psychology the book will inform prevention and intervention efforts to help parents maximize their children s potential

The Influence of Parenting Styles on the Social Skills of Pupils in Lower Primary Classes Mayowa Oyedoyin,2019-10-24 Case Study from the year 2018 in the subject Pedagogy Nursery Pedagogy Early Childhood Education grade 2 1 University of Ibadan course Early Childhood Education language English abstract The development of children s social skills largely depends on the parenting style parents used in upbringing their children Several studies have revealed that the social skills of children are influenced by the parenting style used by their parents However these studies were not carried out in Nigeria especially Ibadan North Local Government Area Research studies in Nigeria focused on parenting style and children s cognitive development neglecting how the parenting styles affect social skills of children This study therefore investigates the influence of parenting style on the social skills of pupils in lower primary classes in Ibadan North Local Government Area Oyo State The following are the research questions this study sought to answer 1 What is the composite contribution of parenting styles on the social skills of pupils in lower primary classes in Ibadan North Local Government Area of Oyo State 2 What is the relative contribution of parenting style on the social skills of pupils in lower primary classes in Ibadan North Local Government Area of Oyo State 3 What is the most dominant parenting style used by parents of pupils in lower primary classes in Ibadan North Local Government Area Oyo State The early years is a very crucial period in the life of individuals It is also the period where the success of individuals is largely determined It is estimated that 7 5 million children under the age of 5 worldwide die each year while over 200 million children survive but do not reach their full potential The implication of this is that the early years is a very crucial period of human development This assertion has led almost every developed country in the world to set up some form of early childhood education for children below the age of compulsory schooling The first few years of life are seen as a particularly sensitive period in the process of development laying a foundation for cognitive functioning behavioural social and self regulatory capacities and physical health in childhood and beyond The early years of children can therefore be seen as the time where the exploits of every other period in their lives are determined
