

Title of Work

The next section of your paper is the Body of the Paper. The body should be typed in Times New Roman, 12-point font, double-spaced, with the first line of each paragraph indented. At the top of the page, type the title of the paper in the center of the page, using capitals on all words more than three letters. The title should not be bolded, underlined or italicized. Include and properly cite sources of information that is either paraphrased or quoted directly. In-text citations that are direct quotes must include the author's last name, publication year and page number of the passage. The direct quotation should be in quotation marks or in an indented paragraph if more than 40 words in length. If you paraphrase a source passage, then cite the source by author and publication year. The inclusion of citations gives credit to the original source of the information, and adds credibility to your paper. Refer to Table 6.1 in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA, 2010) as a helpful guide for including citations with multiple authors. The APA (2010, p.177) guides scholars to, "order the citations of two or more works within the same parentheses alphabetically in the same order in which they appear in the reference list." Sometimes, organizations are the author of a publication (such as the American Psychological Association).

There are many rules that apply to the style in which your paper is to be written. Typically, scholarly work is written in the third person. A balanced and objective review of the literature supports your position on an issue, and provides the context for additional study. Chapters 3 and 4 in the APA manual (APA, 2009) are excellent resources for students to organize their paper, and effectively apply the style guidelines for abbreviations, capitalizations, italics, spelling, punctuation, and writing numbers in text.

An Insight into

University Medical and Health Science Courses Sunjoo Kang, Melody Goodman, Harshad Thakur, 2022-12-26 A Cross Section of Nursing Research Roberta Peteva, 2016-11-18 The 39 research articles in this collection illustrate a wide variety of models for both quantitative and qualitative nursing research The lines in each article are sequentially numbered which facilitates classroom discussions by allowing professors and students to pinpoint specific parts of an article. The articles have been carefully selected for use with students who are just beginning their study of research methods. The difficulty level will challenge but not overwhelm. Factual Questions at the end of each article draw students' attention to methodologically important points. Questions for Discussion request students' opinions on unique aspects of each article. Helps instructors avoid copyright infringement problems. The publisher has paid fees to the copyright holders for permission to include the research articles in this book. New to this edition: A copy of our Bonus Articles for A Cross Section of Nursing Research booklet is included free of charge. The research articles are classified under these major headings: nonexperimental, quantitative research; true experimental research; quasi experimental research; pre experimental research; qualitative research; combined qualitative and quantitative research; test reliability and validity research; meta analysis. The articles have been drawn from a wide variety of journals such as Behavior Modification; Cancer Nursing; Computers in Nursing; Computers Informatics Nursing; Health Education Behavior; Issues in Mental Health Nursing; Journal for Nurses in Staff Development; Journal of Community Health Nursing; Journal of Gerontological Nursing; Journal of Nursing Care Quality; Journal of Pediatric Nursing; Journal of Research in Nursing; Journal of the Society of Pediatric Nurses; Nurse Educator; Nursing Research; Psychological Reports; Public Health Nursing; Rehabilitation Nursing; Research in Nursing Health; The Journal of Nursing Administration; Western Journal of Nursing Research. The Sage Handbook of Nursing Education Carol Hall, Mary Gobbi, Kathryn Parker (Whitcomb), Patricia Yoder-Wise, 2024-05-01. In the past several years a revival of research devoted to nursing education has emerged. This emergence has changed the way many educators engage in their practice of working with learners and learners have come to expect that they will have a rich learning experience designed to develop new or enhance prior knowledge, skills and attitudes. The SAGE Handbook of Nursing Education provides a detailed map of the current discipline with a carefully selected team of international contributors offering the latest thinking about education in nursing across key areas. This handbook will be a key resource for academic educators as well as graduate and postgraduate learners.
