Risk Assessment Report In Foreign Policy:

Failed States and Fragile Societies Ingo Trauschweizer, Steven M. Miner, 2014-06-01 Since the end of the Cold War a new dynamic has arisen within the international system one that does not conform to established notions of the state's monopoly on war. In this changing environment the global community must decide how to respond to the challenges posed to the state by military threats, political and economic decline, and social fragmentation. This insightful work considers the phenomenon of state failure and asks how the international community might better detect signs of state decay at an early stage and devise legally and politically legitimate responses. This collection of essays brings military and social historians into conversation with political and social scientists and former military officers. In case studies from the former Yugoslavia, Somalia, Iraq, and Colombia, the distinguished contributors argue that early intervention to stabilize social, economic, and political systems offers the greatest promise, whereas military intervention at a later stage is both costlier and less likely to succeed. Porter, 2014-11-18 Whose interests does British foreign policy serve? Is the national interest a useful explanatory tool for foreign policy analysts? This interdisciplinary collection responds to these questions, exploring ideas of Britain's national interest and their impact on strategy, challenging current thinking and practice in the making of foreign policy. The Palgrave Geopolitical Atlas Brian C. H. Fong, 2025-12-11 The Palgrave Geopolitical Atlas: State and Quasi-State Actors in Great Power Competition is a comprehensive authoritative survey of the twenty-first century global politics. Going beyond the traditional state-centrism in the international relations discipline, this book re-orientates both states and quasi-states as critical geopolitical actors. This book challenges the state-centrism in orthodox international relations scholarship. Advancing a post-sovereign lens, this book re-imagines a global geopolitical map that features different types of states and quasi-states. By doing so, this book transcends the mainstream great power/small state framework in geopolitical studies and advances a novel agenda for investigating the interaction of states and quasi-states in global politics. It guides readers to interpret the twenty-first century global geopolitical map through a post-sovereign lens. This book will be an essential reference for international relations scholars and students around the world. It will also appeal to global policy makers and practitioners who are observing the dynamics of contemporary great power competition. Impact Assessment Report on the Specific Programme International RTD Cooperation Fifth Framework Programme (1998-2002) Evaluation Partnership (TEP), 2006.
