

mRNA AND TRANSCRIPTION

Name _____

Transcription

Fill in the blanks below. On the illustration of transcription, label the DNA, the newly-forming mRNA, the completed strand of mRNA and a free nucleotide.

Messenger RNA (mRNA) carries the instructions to make a particular _____ from the DNA in the _____ to the ribosomes. The process of producing mRNA from instructions in the DNA is called _____.

During transcription, the DNA molecule unwinds and separates, exposing the nitrogenous bases. Free RNA _____ pair with the exposed bases. There is no _____ (T) in RNA. _____ (U) pairs with adenine (A) instead. RNA contains the sugar _____ instead of deoxyribose. The mRNA molecule is completed by the formation of _____ between the RNA _____, and it then separates from the DNA.

The mRNA molecule is a _____ strand, unlike DNA.

Codons

Each combination of three nitrogenous bases on the mRNA molecule is a codon, a three-letter code word for a specific amino acid.

The table below shows the mRNA codon for each amino acid. Use the table to answer the questions below.

1. The codon for tryptophan is _____.
2. For leucine, there are _____ different codons.
3. The codon GAU is for _____.
4. In a stop codon, if the second base is G, the first and third bases are _____ and _____.

Rna And Transcription Answers Biology If8765:

mRNA Formation and Function Joel D. Richter, 1997-10-15 mRNA Formation and Function presents a compendium of techniques geared exclusively toward the understanding of RNA metabolism. It will be particularly useful because a number of different organisms and systems are employed. Isolation and characterization of specific RNA binding proteins, RNA metabolism and associated regulatory proteins, RNA detection and localization, A genetic approach to RNA function.

Transcription of Ribosomal RNA Genes by Eukaryotic RNA Polymerase I Marvin R. Paule, 1998-10-06 The mechanism by which ribosomal RNA is synthesized has been a topic of intensive research for nearly 30 years. In 1981 the first in vitro transcription system for ribosomal RNA from a eukaryote mouse ascites cells was reported followed rapidly by similar systems in a variety of other eukaryotes all revealed by a relatively small number of research groups. This monograph is the first to bring together the results and opinions of all these groups. Though it unavoidably emphasizes the common features of ribosomal RNA transcription between species the species specificity of the process and nucleolar dominance and its possible mechanism s are also discussed.

mRNA Processing and Metabolism Daniel R. Schoenberg, 2008-02-05 Cells possess a wealth of posttranscriptional control mechanisms that impact on every conceivable aspect of the life of an mRNA. These processes are intimately intertwined in an almost baroque manner where promoter context influences the recruitment of splicing factors where the majority of pre mRNAs undergo alternative splicing and where proteins deposited during nuclear processing impact distal cytoplasmic processing, translation and decay. If there is a unifying theme to mRNA Processing and Metabolism Methods and Protocols it is that mRNA processing and metabolism are integrated processes. Many of the techniques used to study mRNA have been described in a previous volume of this series RNA Protein Interaction Protocols Susan Haynes ed and specialized methods journals. In selecting topics for mRNA Processing and Metabolism Methods and Protocols I sought input on new and novel techniques and approaches that build on this foundation using technological advances in microscopy, whole genome sequencing, microarrays, mass spectrometry, fluorescent detection methodologies and RNA interference. I have tried not to bias this book toward any single model organism and approaches described in the various chapters use yeast, Drosophila, Xenopus, mice, plants and cultured mammalian cells.
