Edge,Elizabeth S. D. Engelhardt,Ted Ownby,Sara Camp Milam,2013-10-15 The sixteen essays in The Larder argue that the study of food does not simply help us understand more about what we eat and the foodways we embrace The methods and strategies herein help scholars use food and

foodways as lenses to examine human experience. The resulting conversations provoke a deeper understanding of our overlapping historically situated and evolving cultures and societies. The Larder presents some of the most influential scholars in the discipline today from established authorities such as Psyche Williams Forson to emerging thinkers such as Rien T Fertel writing on subjects as varied as hunting, farming and marketing as well as examining restaurants iconic dishes and cookbooks. Editors John T Edge, Elizabeth Engelhardt and Ted Ownby bring together essays that demonstrate that food studies scholarship as practiced in the American South sets methodological standards for the discipline. The essayists ask questions about gender, race and ethnicity as they explore issues of identity and authenticity. And they offer new ways to think about material culture, technology and the business of food. The Larder is not driven by nostalgia. Reading such a collection of essays may not encourage food metaphors. It's not a feast, not a gumbo, certainly not a home cooked meal. Ted Ownby argues in his closing essay Instead it's a healthy step in the right direction taken by the leading scholars in the field. Southern Food John Egerton, 1993. Egerton explores southern food in over 200 restaurants in 11 Southern states, describing each establishment's specialties and recounting his conversations with owners, cooks, waiters and customers. Includes more than 150 regional recipes. In Joy and in Sorrow Carol Bleser, 1992-09-17. In Joy and in Sorrow brings together some of the finest historians of the South in a sweeping exploration of the meaning of the family in this troubled region. In their vast canvas of the Victorian South the authors explore the private lives of Senators, wealthy planters and the belles of high society, along with the humblest slaves and sharecroppers, both white and black. Stretching from the height of the antebellum South's pride and power through the chaos of the Civil War and Reconstruction to the end of the century, these essays uncover hidden worlds of the Southern family: worlds of love and duty and of incest, miscegenation and insanity. Featuring an introduction by C Vann Woodward, Pulitzer Prize winning author of Mary Chesnut's Civil War and a foreword by Anne Firor Scott, author of The Southern Lady, this work presents an outstanding array of historians: Eugene Genovese, Catherine Clinton, Elizabeth Fox Genovese, Carol Bleser, Drew Faust, James Roark, Michael Johnson, Brenda Stevenson, Bertram Wyatt Brown, Jacqueline Jones, Peter Bardaglio and more. They probe the many facets of Southern domestic life from the impact of the Civil War on a prominent Southern marriage to the struggles of postwar sharecropper families. One author turns the pages of nineteenth century cookbooks exploring what they tell us about home life, housekeeping and entertaining without slaves after the Civil War. Other essays portray the relationship between a Victorian father and his devoted son as well as the private writings of a long suffering Southern wife. In Joy and in Sorrow offers a fascinating look into the tangled reality of Southern life before, during and after the Civil War. With this collection of essays editor Carol Bleser provides a powerful new way of understanding this most self consciously distinct region. In Joy and in Sorrow will appeal to everyone interested in marriage and the family, the problems of gender and slavery as well as in the history of the South old and new. The Robert E.
