

NORTEL NETWORKS MERIDIAN 1 OPTION 61C, 81C COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

Solutions for Enterprise Communications

The Meridian 1 Option 61C and 81C Enterprise Communications Systems are the powerhouses of the Meridian 1 portfolio. They are targeted at mid to large sized organisations with the most demanding requirements for capacity, reliability, advanced applications and sophisticated networking. Both are equipped with CPU and storage media redundancy as standard. The Meridian 1 Option 61C is ideally suited for organisations requiring up to 2,000 ports. It is also the system of choice for smaller port sizes where resilience is a major consideration, such as in a Call Centre. The Meridian 1 Option 81C uses many of the Option 61C components but adds additional power and capacity to support up to 16,000 ports.

Meridian 1 provides a platform for applications such as CallPilot Unified Messaging and Symposium Call Centre Server. The Meridian 1 Option 61C and 81C provide the added benefit that these services can be hosted centrally and extended across the entire network to smaller Meridian 1 Option 11 locations, many of which may be too small to warrant having their own local applications platforms. This is achieved using the Network Abundant Services, Network Message Services and Networked Automatic Call Distribution features.

The power, capacity and reliability of the Option 61C and 81C are also well suited as host sites for large deployments of the Remote Office portfolio which extends cost-effective, high-quality communications to the smallest branch site locations and home-workers. They are equally well capable of supporting large numbers of mobile employees through the "virtual office" feature and i2050 software telephone.

The modular design of Meridian 1 systems across the portfolio provides built in scalability so that when your enterprise grows then so too can your Meridian 1. This enables seamless growth from the Option 61C to 81C as the need arises.

Typical Applications:

- Mid to large enterprises
- Multi-site enterprises with sophisticated networking and advanced applications needs such as Contact Centres, Unified Messaging and Voice over IP (VoIP)
