Math Problem Solving for Grades 4 Through 8 James L. Overholt,Jane B. Rincon,Constance A. Ryan,1984 Making Sense of Word Problems Eric de Corte,Brian Greer,Lieven Verschaffel,2000-01-01 Word problems have been a staple of mathematics instruction for centuries yet the rationale for their use has remained largely unexamined A range of findings have shown how students consistently answer them in ways that fail to take account of the reality of the situations described This monograph reports on studies carried out to investigate this suspension of sense making in answering word problems In Part One a wide range of examples documenting the strength of the phenomenon is reviewed Initial surprise at the findings was replaced by a conviction that the explanation lies in the culture of the mathematics classroom specifically the rules implicitly governing the nature and interpretation of the word problem genre This theoretical shift is reflected in Part Two A detailed analysis of the way in which word problems are currently taught in typical mathematical classrooms is followed by reviews of design experiments illustrating how by immersing students in a fundamentally changed learning environment they can acquire what the authors consider to be more appropriate conceptions about and strategies for doing word problems Part Three turns to a wider discussion of theoretical issues a further analysis of the features of the educational system considered responsible for outcomes detrimental to many students understanding and conception of mathematics and suggestions for rethinking the role of word problems within the curriculum Words and Worlds ,2009-01-01 In this book the reader is invited to enter a strange world in which you can tell the age of the captain by counting the animals on his ship where runners do not get tired and where water gets hotter when you add it to other water It is the world of a curious genre known as word problems or story problems It originated in the ancient civilizations of Egypt China and India and is the subject of daily rituals among students and teachers in mathematics classrooms all around the world An international group of scholars with a shared interest in this phenomenon explore multiple aspects of this world from multiple perspectives These discussions take us deep into philosophical issues of the relationships between words mathematical systems and the physical and social worlds we all inhabit Empirical investigations are reported that throw light on how students and their teachers experience and interpret this activity raising profound questions about the nature and purposes of mathematics teaching learning in general and how it could be improved Advances in the Contributions of Mathematics in the Field of Education and Psychology Inmaculada Méndez,Juan Pedro Martínez-Ramón,Nelly Lagos San Martín,Belen García-Manrubia,José Manuel García-Fernández,Francisco Manuel Morales Rodríguez,Cecilia María Ruiz Esteban,2024-03-07 Psychological Studies in the Teaching, Learning and Assessment of Mathematics Yiming Cao,Zsolt Lavicza ,Shuhua An,Lianchun Dong,2024-05-31 There is no doubt that the onset of a new decade has brought high expectations of academic progress for scholars especially for researchers in mathematics education The International Group for the Psychology of Mathematics Education was born in 1976 which focused on the international exchange of knowledge in the psychology of mathematics

Early School Years for Reading, Writing and Math Development: Assessment and Intervention at School Entry

Christoph Weber, Martin Schöfl, Susanne Seifert, Natalie Förster, 2025-12-01 School entry is a critical life event for young children. Students begin this new phase of their lives with very different abilities due to their individual characteristics previous experiences and education. While some children hardly know any letters or numbers others can already read, write and calculate quite fluently. To optimally support young learners according to their respective starting conditions, teachers must recognize students' learning prerequisites and adapt instruction to students' needs. To this end, both valid and economical assessments as well as effective and differentiated interventions are needed. This Research Topic addresses new developments in early assessments and assessment-based interventions around the time of school entry from the last year before enrollment until second grade. In particular, this Research Topic aims to bring together research that directly contributes to assessing children's difficulties and providing evidence-based support. We highly welcome new innovative approaches from the fields of education, didactics, and psychology that focus on the assessment and assessment-based instruction in reading, writing, and maths. Any empirical studies that help to improve the assessment and assessment-based interventions for the competencies mentioned are welcome. We are looking for empirical, quantitative or qualitative studies dealing with the target group of children around the age of school entry (last year of kindergarten to second grade elementary school) that include at least one of the following topics: the presentation or testing of new assessment procedures that focus on performance in and prerequisites for reading, writing, and maths; assessment-based interventions (both whole class or individual approaches) in reading, writing, and maths; the co-development of sub-skills in reading, writing, and maths; and consequences for assessment and intervention. Please note that manuscripts without prior submission of an abstract will not be considered for the research topic.
