

Applications of Nursing Theory

Introduction

In the process of providing quality care, the significance of addressing the needs of individual patients through nursing theories cannot be understated. However, as Im and Ju Chang (2012) write, the application of nursing theories in each setting of clinical practice varies depending on the context of the setting and the needs of the patients. Amidst these variations, nursing theory has been used to navigate some of the enduring and contentious problems that characterize the diverse requirements of clinical practice.

One such nursing theory that has been used to tackle the problems encountered in clinical practice is the Transcultural Nursing theory. As Oriá, Ximenes and Alves (2012) narrate, transcultural nursing plays an essential role in the provision of healthcare today. With the increase in multicultural populations comes the challenge of providing individualized yet holistic care to the patients. Having realized these challenges, Madeleine Leininger developed this theory to mitigate the risks associated with cultural diversity in the clinical setting.

Transcultural nursing forms the backbone of this paper, which purposefully explores the application of this nursing theory into the clinical setting. In order to perform this function, the paper defines the key concepts as explained by Madeleine Leininger before mapping them into a problem solving situation as presented in a clinical setting. Through the application of nursing theory into clinical practice, the paper addresses the gaps that exist between theory and practice in relation to promoting culturally inclusive healthcare settings for the culturally diverse patient populations.
