time the book debunks several myths about policies to support firm dynamism that focus on outward characteristics such as firm size sector location or past performance Its findings show that most firms struggle to sustain rapid rates of expansion and that the relationship between high growth and productivity is often weak Consequently the book calls for a shift toward policies that improve the quality of firm growth by supporting innovation managerial skills and firms ability to leverage global linkages and agglomeration To help policy makers structure policies that support firm growth the book proposes a new ABC framework of growth entrepreneurship improving Allocative efficiency encouraging Business to business spillovers and strengthening firm Capabilities This book is the third volume of the World Bank Productivity Project which seeks to bring frontier thinking on the measurement and determinants of productivity to global policy makers Policy makers often get carried away by the disproportionate contributions of high growth firms to job and output growth and commit to pursuing policies targeting the potential stars This book separates fact from fiction underpinning such interventions through a comprehensive analysis of high growth firms across a range of developing countries making a compelling argument that public policy to pick prospective winners is neither possible nor desirable Policy makers would be wise to consult its arguments and policy advice when designing the next generation of policies to support the growth of firms William R Kerr Professor of Business Administration Harvard University author of The Gift of Global Talent How Migration Shapes Business Economy and Society How to ignite and sustain high firm growth has eluded both economic analysis and thought leaders in policy and business Through its meticulous and thoughtful analysis this important new book provides a tractable framework to guide policy to harness the growth and productivity potential of firms in the developing country context David Audretsch Distinguished Professor and Director of the Institute for Development Strategies Indiana University     Evaluation Report on Integrated Rural Development Programme India.
