Using Data-Informed Decision Making to Improve

Student Affairs Practice Kathleen M. Goodman,Darnell Cole,2017-09-28 Is the data available on your college campus fully utilized Analyzing data does not have to be a complex process but there can be obstacles to putting data to good use overworked staff or understaffed departments silos that prevent crossing institutional boundaries lack of research training or simply being overwhelmed by the possibilities Addressing these obstacles this volume presents pragmatic ideas for implementing data informed decision making to improve student affairs practice It first illustrates how to easily analyze quantitative data and read assessment reports demonstrating that advanced research knowledge is not necessary to make meaning of survey findings. It then provides suggestions for utilizing findings from large data sets typically available on campus and gives practical guidance for making sense of and using quantitative data to inform practice. Also included is how to use data to understand the experiences of non-dominant populations on campus which is especially relevant given the diversity of today's college students. Several chapters speak directly to using data to understand marginalized groups based on race, religion, and sexual orientation while others focus on using data to understand campus diversity experiences. This is the 159th volume of this Jossey Bass higher education quarterly series. An indispensable resource for vice presidents of student affairs, deans of students, student counselors, and other student services professionals. New Directions for Student Services offers guidelines and programs for aiding students in their total development emotional, social, physical, and intellectual.

Social Studies Review, 1991 The Assessment of Multilingual Learners Kate Mahoney, 2024-09-10 This book is a comprehensive introduction to the topic of assessing students who use two or more languages in their daily life. The book provides foundational information for assessing multilingual learners (MLs) in schools with an emphasis on school language and content. Major assessment ideas are viewed through a framework called PUMI (Purpose, Use, Method, and Instrument) to help readers focus on important assessment principles leading to better quality assessments for MLs. This is a substantially revised and updated second edition of The Assessment of Emergent Bilinguals. Updates in this edition include a greater focus on multilingual assessment and assessment in language contexts in addition to English and Spanish. This edition addresses both the current politics of multilingual assessment and recent theoretical developments including an expanded exploration of translanguaging in assessment contexts. This edition aims to be more practical than the first edition with more examples of assessments and rubrics and a greater emphasis on using assessment results in formative ways.

Physical scientists at two Air Force research centers were intensively interviewed concerning the nature of scientific productivity and the characteristics of effective scientists. Based on these interview suggestions, data were collected on 52 criteria. These were reduced analytically to 14 factor scores. Following this, several tests and questionnaires were developed for tryout as predictors. Scores from these and previously developed instruments were correlated with the factor scores and three original criteria. In the sample of 107 scientists, criteria most related to tests and questionnaires in terms of number of significant correlations were ratings of likability as a member of a research team, membership in professional societies, organizational status, rated work output, supervisory ratings on over all performance and peer rankings on over all productivity. The instruments that had scores correlating with the greatest number of criteria were a biographical data questionnaire, self-ratings and a questionnaire designed to measure minimum level of aspiration. The outcomes of this investigation were identification of a wide variety of measurable criteria and a number of self-report instruments suitable for future longitudinal follow up and validation as a means of identifying kinds of scientific talent needed by the Air Force. Contemporary strategies: Advancing healthcare for HIV, STIs, and beyond Samanta Tresha Lalla-Edward, Anil Chuturgoon, Vinodh Aroon Edward, 2023-08-31. MIDS Search Aids Annemarie Jacobs, 1985. Library & Information Science Abstracts, 1990.
