

Journal Entry Format

Requirement

- Each journal entry must be properly documented with the partner country, the date, and topic of discussion.
- The journal is to be brought to class each period for spot inspections and use in discussions.
- Journal entries will be used to write papers and prepare for the final examination
- All journal entries are confidential and will not be shared.

Specifics of Journal Entry

- A typical entry should be about one page but not more than two pages in length
- Each entry shall have a heading printed neatly in large letters:
 - Partner institution, discussion topic of the day, and date

Date _____	Partner Country _____	Partner # _____	Lecture or Interaction
------------	-----------------------	-----------------	------------------------

- Whole thoughts are necessary but not whole sentences
- First section of entry is brief summary of newspaper topic discussion
- Second section of entry shall reflect the day's discussion in both group and individual chat
 - Very brief highlights of discussion of the day
 - Surprising comments or attitudes of classmates & partners at both universities
 - Thoughts on the day's discussions
 - Questions to ponder
- At the end of our link with each culture, include an entry of your reflection of that culture.

Questions to ask yourself:

- What do you really like about this culture?
- What really bugs you about this culture?
- How do you like the people in this culture?
- What are their biggest differences from us?
- What can we learn from them?
- What can they learn from us?
- What differences are just too great to bridge?
- Would you like to spend a year there, living among the people?
- Why?
- Would you consider marrying a person from this culture? Why?

Sample Journal Entry For College:

Teaching First-Year College Students Bette LaSere Erickson, Calvin B. Peters, Diane Weltner Strommer, 2009-11-24

Teaching First Year College Students is a thoroughly expanded and updated edition of Teaching College Freshmen which has become a classic in the field since it was published in 1991. The book offers concrete suggestions about specific strategies and approaches for faculty who teach first year courses. The new edition is based on the most current research on teaching and learning and incorporates information about the demographic changes that have occurred in student populations since the first edition was published. The updated strategies are designed to help first year students adjust effectively to both the academic and nonacademic pressures of college. The authors also help faculty understand first year students and show how their experiences in high school have prepared them for the world of higher education.

in Education, 1996 New York School Journal, 1906 The Journal Book for Teachers of At-risk College Writers

Susan Gardner, Toby Fulwiler, 1999. Educators across the grades and across the curriculum have long recognized the usefulness of journals to help student writers. But what about basic writers, learning disabled students and nontraditional and returning students? One of the values of journal writing is its accessibility, yet no one has seemed to consider how at-risk students might benefit. With this new collection, the first of its kind, Susan Gardner and Toby Fulwiler provide much-needed advice. The authors of these essays are all experienced teachers of at-risk writers, both at two and four-year colleges. They know the at-risk students they are describing. Some readers will recognize the students as basic writers in basic writing courses. Others will find chapters written by writing center directors who serve a variety of students we might term as at-risk. There are also chapters from educators who work specifically with Deaf students, ADHD students and learning disabled students. Each one describes uses of the journal and the adjustments to the assignment that make the journal such an accessible and instructive writing genre.

Multicultural Education James A. Banks, Cherry A. McGee Banks, 2019-11-12

As diversity continues to increase in the United States, ethnic, cultural, social class, and linguistic gaps are widening between teachers and their students. The rapidly changing educational landscape presents unique challenges and opportunities for addressing diversity both creatively and constructively in schools. Multicultural Education helps current and future educators fully understand sophisticated concepts of culture, become more effective practitioners in diverse classrooms, and view race, class, gender, social class, and exceptionality as intersectional concepts. Now in its tenth edition, this bestselling textbook assists educators to effectively respond to the ways race, social class, and gender interact to influence student behavior and learning. Contributions from leading authorities in multicultural education discuss the effects of class and religion on education, differences in educational opportunities for male, female, and LGBTQ students, and issues surrounding non-native English speakers, students of color, and students with disabilities. Contemporary in relevance, this timely volume promotes multicultural education as a process of school reform. Practical advice helps teachers increase student academic achievement.
