The following precautions need to be taken when using any hand tools in the RPI Centrifuge Lab in order to promote a safe work environment and keep accidents as small and as infrequent as possible. In general, only use a tool for what it was originally designed to do. Also, be careful to inspect the tool before using it, as older and worn out tools become much more dangerous than a tool in good condition. It is also important to wear the proper safety protective equipment such as gloves or safety glasses whenever using any hand tools. Always remember to keep yourself and the other people working around you in mind when working with tools in the lab. It is important to be aware of your surroundings; not being aware of the position of coworkers is no excuse for an accident occurring in the lab.

Screwdriver:

- Never use a screwdriver as a chisel, as it might shatter and become a hazard.
- Always make sure the handle and shaft do not have any cracks and are in good condition before using a screwdriver.
- Never use a screwdriver as some sort of pry bar.
- Always take the time to find the right sized and right type screwdriver for the job, as this will make your work go by much quicker and also ensure the job gets done the safest way possible.

Hammer:

- Never use a hammer which has a loose or cracked handle, as the head may fly off and become a hazard.
- Ensure that the hammer is both the proper type and size for the job you are performing, as this will make your work go by much quicker and also ensure the job gets done the safest way possible.
- Never use a hammer with a chipped, cracked, or broken claw.
- When using a hammer, keep your motions short and compact, and try to avoid longer swings of the hammer. This will not only cause you to be more accurate with what you strike with the hammer, this will decrease the chance of you hitting something or somebody by accident at the top of the hammer stroke.

Saw:

- Ensure that the saw's teeth are sufficiently sharp, as a dull tool is much more dangerous than a sharp tool.
- Always be careful to cut in a direction that puts yourself and others out of harm whenever possible.
- Always use a vise or other means to secure your work, as this will make it both easier and safer to make a cut with a saw.

This Joint ISTA and FAO Handbook provides comprehensive guidelines for the setting up and managing of seed testing laboratories including those that cater to small and medium scale seed enterprises and farmers cooperatives which operate in low input production systems. The adherence to the guidelines by seed testing laboratories results in the use of uniform procedures across the board thereby facilitating inter laboratory transferability of data. This harmonization enhances confidence in seed quality assurance mechanisms. The publication is an update of a previous one that was also jointly published by both organizations in 1969 and revised in 1979 and 1983. Its utility is enhanced by a set of new up to date information that builds upon existing data. The Handbook provides guidance on the range of seed testing equipment procedures and management systems that have become available in the several decades since the previous editions. Seed testing is a critical component of the seed value chain and is essential for the production of quality seeds i.e. seeds that are alive can germinate and produce vigorous seedlings are healthy and come from lots that meet set thresholds for genetic and analytical purity. The Handbook covers all aspects of seed testing from laboratory design and equipment selection to sample preparation testing methods and data analysis. Importantly the publication also addresses the challenges of testing seeds in low input systems and provides guidance on how to adapt procedures to these settings. Therefore it serves as a reference material and training resource for everyone involved in seed quality assurance procedures in particular the personnel of seed testing laboratories and regulatory agencies seed producers and farmers. The updated publication represents a significant improvement over previous guidelines as it incorporates advances in technology and provides guidance on a broader range of testing procedures. The guidelines are designed to be adaptable to different contexts and seed types and include recommendations for quality management systems proficiency testing and inter laboratory comparisons which are essential for ensuring the accuracy and reliability of seed testing results.
