

ROBERT LEAR'S RUGBY

By James Kirkaga

Born 1795 – 1868 (d) – Considered one of the greatest English poets. Lived in London, England in the 1800s when one of the poorest was Scotland. Very prolific – spent time in Africa where he witnessed the art of Haka. Lived in Spain.

Author of many satires in English, some containing satyric, besides other satirical ones. Many of his writings are satiric commentaries on the human condition.

This contains implications of ignorance competition. The poem goes off as follows: suggests competitive nature. But ironically the intent of the poem contradicts this.

Sport is absurd, and aside

Concordance = silly / tragic

Those green men ~~should look~~ –

Players are too young – suggests they are doing something childish / not proper / appropriate.

In those dreary long blue shorts,

Appeal to reader – insults them.

Those ringed stockings, Edwardian,

They are dressed out in a uniform which makes them look foolish.

Blanking pates, and huge

Edward (King of England from 1502 – 1553) known as Rasharkin – from a bygone era.

Fat knee-girth that ought to be merciful

Concordance = shooting – opposite of the idea of the poem.

Official rugby terms used

Chapping, thwacking, gallantly jostling –

Old fashioned term for violent / indecisive in battle – ridiculous term / irony. Player men are past it.

Is all this courage really necessary?

Philosophical question challenges their actions.

Taking their good clean fun –

Other becomes ironic – makes fun of them. They are the other.

So solemnly, they run each other down

Phil: assumes no benefit at the unknown but recognises the identity of their objective.

With earnest keenness, for the honour of

Victory, the cap, the country side

Such as – seconds in descending order of importance results in ridicule – the country side contradicts the expectation of a grand idea / ambition.

Concordance / incongruous

Concordance: off their identity / bodies in public

Like great bears roll each other,

Contrast description off growth and violence / aggression / violence seems unable to recognise their past.

In the mud of public Sundays,

Visually – qualities off courage / honour – incongruous off a strong monarchic era.

Chapping their blind fury back,

Philosophical responsibilities – gained off a guilt job

To noble youth away from the bank

Concordance: the weight off a child's dependence, unwillingness / immaturity

The wife, the gram, the spin drier,

Shoulder measuring / ambiguity – assumes like-style / soft discipline CPC courage in the face off change.

Back to the Spartan freedom of the field

Rugby League Game Poem Notes:

Rugby League in Twentieth Century Britain Tony Collins,2006-09-27 Called the greatest game of all by its supporters but often overlooked by the cultural mainstream no sport is more identified with England s northern working class than rugby league This book traces the story of the sport from the Northern Union of the 1900s to the formation of the Super League in the 1990s through war depression boom and deindustrialisation into a new economic and social age Using a range of previously unexplored archival sources this extremely readable and deeply researched book considers the impact of two world wars the significance of the game s expansion to Australasia and the momentous decision to take rugby league to Wembley It investigates the history of rugby union s long running war against league and the sport s troubled relationship with the national media Most importantly this book sheds new light on issues of social class and working class masculinity regional identity and the profound impact of the decline of Britain s traditional industries For all those interested in the history of sport and working class culture this is essential reading
