Kierkegaard's Journals and Notebooks, Volume 4 Søren Kierkegaard, 2011-07-25 For over a century the Danish thinker Søren Kierkegaard (1813-55) has been at the center of a number of important discussions concerning not only philosophy and theology but also more recently fields such as social thought, psychology and contemporary aesthetics especially literary theory. Despite his relatively short life, Kierkegaard was an extraordinarily prolific writer as attested to by the 26 volume Princeton University Press edition of all of his published writings. But Kierkegaard left behind nearly as much unpublished writing, most of which consists of what are called his journals and notebooks. Kierkegaard has long been recognized as one of history's great journal keepers but only rather small portions of his journals and notebooks are what we usually understand by the term diaries. By far the greater part of Kierkegaard's journals and notebooks consists of reflections on a myriad of subjects philosophical, religious, political, personal. Studying his journals and notebooks takes us into his workshop where we can see his entire universe of thought. We can witness the genesis of his published works to be sure but we can also see whole galaxies of concepts, new insights and fragments large and small of partially or almost entirely completed but unpublished works. Kierkegaard's Journals and Notebooks enables us to see the thinker in dialogue with his times and with himself. Volume 4 of this 11 volume series includes the first five of Kierkegaard's well known NB journals which contain in addition to a great many reflections on his own life, a wealth of thoughts on theological matters as well as on Kierkegaard's times including political developments and the daily press. Kierkegaard wrote his journals in a two column format, one for his initial entries and the second for the extensive marginal comments that he added later. This edition of the journals reproduces this format, includes several photographs of original manuscript pages and contains extensive scholarly commentary on the various entries and on the history of the manuscripts being reproduced.

Adams Family Correspondence, Volumes 5 and 6

Adams Family, 2009-07-01 I cannot. O I cannot be reconciled to living as I have done for 3 years past. Will you let me try to soften if I cannot wholly release you from your Burden of Cares and perplexities. So begins Abigail Adams' correspondence to her husband in these volumes, a plea to end their long separation as John Adams represented the United States in Europe while Abigail tended to family and farm in Massachusetts and passed on to John crucial political information from Congress. In October 1782 the Adams family was as widely scattered as it would ever be with young John Quincy Adams in St. Petersburg, John at The Hague and Abigail in Braintree with her daughter and younger sons. With the summer of 1784 however, Abigail would have her fondest wish as most of the family reunited to spend nearly a year together in Europe. As the Adams family traveled and as the children came of age so their correspondence expanded to include an ever larger and more fascinating range of Cultural topics and international figures The record of this remarkable expansion these volumes document John Adams diplomatic triumphs his wife and daughter s participation in the cosmopolitan scenes of Paris and London and his son John Quincy s travels in Europe and America These pages also welcome Thomas Jefferson who soon became one of Abigail s closest friends into the family correspondence From the intimacies Of the children s education sentimental and worldly to the details of the arm friendship between Abigail and Madame Lafayette to the grand drama of Edmund Burke and William Pitt the Younger debating in Parliament the contents of these letters draw an incredibly rich picture of international life in the 17805 and an incomparable portrait of America s first family of politics and letters The Vineland Historical Magazine ,1930 The Evangelical Hymn-book ,1865 The Correspondence of Charles Darwin:

Volume 6, 1856-1857 Charles Darwin, Frederick Burkhardt, 1985 For the first time full authoritative texts of Darwin's are made available edited according to modern textual editorial principles and practice. Letter writing was of crucial importance to Darwin's work not only because his poor health isolated him from direct personal communication with his scientific colleagues but also because the nature of his investigations required communication with naturalists in many fields and in all quarters of the globe. Thus the letters are a mine of information about the work in progress of a creative genius who produced an intellectual revolution.
