Power Politics Environmental Activism In South Los Angeles:

Power Politics Karen Brodtkin, 2009-08-05 In the late 1990s when California's deregulation of the production and sale of electric power created massive energy shortages a group of environmental justice activists blocked construction of a power plant in their working class Mexican and Central American neighborhoods Why did they choose this battle And how did the largely high school student activists come to prevail in the face of statewide political opinion Power Politics is a rich and readable study of a grassroots campaign where longtime labor and environmental allies found themselves on opposite sides of a conflict that pitted good jobs against good air Karen Brodtkin analyzes how those issues came to be opposed and in doing so unpacks the racial and class dynamics that shape Americans' grasp of labor and environmental issues Power Politics activists stood at the forefront of a movement that is building broad based environmental coalitions and placing social justice at the heart of a new and robust vision A Companion to the Anthropology of Environmental Health Merrill

Singer, 2016-05-31 A Companion to the Anthropology of Environmental Health presents a collection of readings that utilize a medical anthropological approach to explore the interface of humans and the environment in the shaping of health and illness around the world Features the latest ethnographic research from around the world related to the multiple impacts of the environment on health and of societies on their environments Includes contributions from international medical anthropologists conservationists environmental experts public health professionals health clinicians and other social scientists Analyzes the conditions of cultural and social transformation that accompany environmental and ecological impacts in all areas of the world Offers critical perspectives on theoretical and methodological advancements in the anthropology of environmental health along with future directions in the field Beyond Nature's Housekeepers Nancy C. Unger, 2012-10-05

This book highlights the unique and complex role women have played in the shaping of the American environment from pre-Columbian Native Americans to present day environmental justice activists Latinas and the Politics of Urban Spaces

Sharon Navarro, Lilliana Saldaña, 2020-12-30 This book illuminates the ways in which Chicanas Puerto Rican women and other Latinas organize and lead social movements either on the ground or digitally in major cities of the continental United States and Puerto Rico It shows how they challenge racism sexism homophobia and anti-immigrant policies through their political praxis and spiritual activism Drawing from a range of disciplines and perspectives academic and activist authors offer unique insights into environmental justice peace and conflict resolution women's rights LGBTQ coalition building and more all through a distinctive Latina lens Designed for use in a wide range of college courses this book is also aimed at practitioners community organizers and grassroots leaders Food Justice Undone Hanna Garth, 2026-02-03

Breaks open the privilege and promise of food justice to envision a radical liberatory future Food justice activists have worked to increase access to healthy food in low income communities of color across the United States Yet despite their best intentions they often perpetuate food access inequalities and racial stereotypes Hanna Garth shows how the movement has been affected by misconceptions and assumptions about residents as well as by unclear definitions of justice and what it means to be healthy. Focusing on broad structures and microlevel processes, Garth reveals how power dynamics shape social justice movements in particular ways. Drawing on twelve years of ethnographic research, Garth examines what motivates people from more affluent majority white areas of the city to intervene in South Central Los Angeles. She argues that the concepts of food justice and healthy food operate as racially coded language reinforcing the idea that health problems in low income Black and Brown communities can be solved through individual behavior rather than structural change. Food Justice Undone explores the stakes of social justice and the possibility of multiracial coalitions working toward a better future. Environment, Inc Christopher John Bosso, 2005. To understand the environmental movement is to understand environmental organizations. And no one better understands this than Bosso. His book is both important and timely. Jeffrey M. Berry, author of The New Liberalism: The Rising Power of Citizen Groups. A must read for anyone interested in the future of our environment. Frank R. Baumgartner, coauthor of Basic Interests: The Importance of Groups in Politics and in Political Science. An important, engaging, and well-written book that is ideal for courses in environmental politics. Robert J. Duffy, author of The Green Agenda in American Politics: New Strategies for the Twenty First Century. A masterful study that fills a critical void in the field. Michael E. Kraft, author of Environmental Policy and Politics. Publisher: Power in the City. Marion Orr, Valerie C. Johnson, 2008. A collection of thirteen essays considered classics in the field of urban politics from leading scholar Clarence Stone with new essays by the editors and by Stone himself that contextualize the impact of his previous works and suggest new directions for researchers. Annual Review of Political Science, 2001. The mission of Annual Review of Political Science is to provide systematic periodic examinations of the field through critical authoritative reviews. The comprehensive critical review not only summarizes a topic but also roots out errors of fact or concept and provokes discussion that will lead to new research activity. Each review contains title, author's key words, abstracts, review, and bibliography. Sociological Abstracts, 2004. CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences. The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1,800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books, book chapters, dissertations, and conference papers.

Worldviews, Religion, and the Environment Richard C. Foltz, 2003. This text strives to be as inclusive as possible. Preface. Regionalism, Politics and the Environment Sarah S. Elkind, 1994. Contentious Europeans Doug Imig, Sidney G. Tarrow, 2001-07-17. Exploring how social movements have been influenced by growing Europeanization and globalization, this groundbreaking work analyzes the developing efforts of European citizens to make demands upon the supranational level of European government through social movements protest. The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature: K-Z Bron Raymond Taylor, Jeffrey Kaplan, 2005. The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature originally published in 2005 is a landmark work in the burgeoning field of religion and nature. It covers a vast and interdisciplinary range of material from thinkers to religious traditions and beyond with clarity and style. Widely praised by reviewers and the recipient of two reference work awards since its publication, see www.religionandnature.com. This new, more affordable version is a must-have book for anyone interested in the manifold and fascinating links between religion and nature in all their many senses.

Environment & Planning, 2012 Nuclear Politics in America Robert J. Duffy, 1997. Duffy's work traces nuclear politics from the creation of a powerful subgovernment through the public lobby reforms of the late 1960s and early 1970s and the deregulatory backlash of the Reagan years. He demonstrates that while policies did change in the 1970s, they did not change as much as other accounts have suggested, and that the industry continued to receive considerable federal support. The book is particularly significant for extending the discussion of nuclear policy through the Bush and Clinton years, including the controversy over waste disposal, new licensing procedures enacted in the 1992 Amendments to the Atomic Energy Act, and the effects of deregulation of electric utilities.
