

Services Acquisition Reform Act of 2003 (Nov 24, 2003)

The Services Acquisition Reform Act of 2003 (SARA) was Title XIV—Services Acquisition Reform of Public Law 108–136—National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2004.

The reason for the passage of SARA was that the federal government spends more than 50 percent of acquisition dollars on the acquisition of services, and Congress wanted to place a special emphasis on those acquisitions. SARA's primary thrusts included:

- Acquisition Workforce and Training
- Adaptation of Business Acquisition Practices
- Acquisitions of Commercial Items

Section 1423 of the Act directed establishment an advisory panel to review laws and regulations regarding the use of commercial practices, performance-based contracting, the performance of acquisition functions across agency lines of responsibility, and the use of Governmentwide contracts. The Panel was to be composed of recognized experts in acquisition law and Government acquisition policy. The Report of The Acquisition Advisory Panel was provided to the Office of Federal Procurement Policy and the United States Congress in January 2007. Many recommendations of the panel were later adopted.

Defense Management Reform Peter Levine,2020-03-10 Pentagon spending has been the target of decades of criticism and reform efforts Billions of dollars are spent on weapons programs that are later abandoned State of the art data centers are underutilized and overstaffed New business systems are built at great expense but fail to meet the needs of their users Every Secretary of Defense for the last five Administrations has made it a priority to address perceived bloat and inefficiency by making management reform a major priority The congressional defense committees have been just as active enacting hundreds of legislative provisions Yet few of these initiatives produce significant results and the Pentagon appears to go on as wasteful as ever In this book Peter Levine addresses why despite a long history of attempted reform the Pentagon continues to struggle to reduce waste and inefficiency The heart of Defense Management Reform is three case studies covering civilian personnel acquisitions and financial management Narrated with the insight of an insider the result is a clear understanding of what went wrong in the past and a set of concrete guidelines to plot a better future
